and the brother or the relative, underwent tl term of sentence in his stead, for the time } remained absent. I, however, could n.
very well understand then, the meai ing of all that he said, but now I seem to se< that it was not all for nothing. There must t a certain definite system, for the guidance c
the hierarchical world in pursuance of whicl:
they did, what I saw them do; even though made of me such a fool, as to ascribe to then:
in my ignorance, the ordinary earthly characte
of common-place incidents.

I took this Supernal, for the very earth!
brother that is still in England and has bee:
there for the last fourteen or fifteen years, actually believed him to have come over t relieve me, himself serving in iny place From the above it will be seen, that aon the one hand the supernatural presentation:
appear to excite wonder and admiration, th<
most unique of their kind, on the other, maj
so pervert our imagination, as to make w believe in the most diabolical off falsehoods and the beauty of it all is, that it may take us perhaps, the greater half of a life-time, to realise the fact of their having been falsehoods, ir